Walk all the way up this mining heap, a memory of Le Borinage's former key industry, to enjoy a superb view over Mons...

A remarkable biodiversity

- Pioneer forest (mostly beech trees)
- Soil with a high mineral content
- Ponds
- Reed beds
- 3 types of newts
- Rich biodiversity

Well worth the effort

- Several paths lead to the top
- The stroll starts in a birch tree planted woodland. You will see the colour of the soil change as you go up, from red to black. It's ever so peaceful too – not traffic, just birds singing
- Steep stairs will take you to the very top
- Enjoy the stunning view on the region.
