Open since 1975, set in a splendid park, the Musée royal de Mariemont features collections gathered by its founder Raoul Waroqué. The Mariemont estate can be found in Morlanwez, between Mons and Charleroi, in the province of Hainaut.

The Museum

- In this museum, China and Japan can be found side by side with Egypt, Greece, ancient Rome...
- The many collections, ranging from prehistoric to modern times via Gallo-roman and Merovingian civilizations pay tribute to the region and its past. Part of the collections also is the world's finest Tournai porcelain collection.
- The museum regularly organises high-quality temporary exhibitions as well as activities, workshops and guided tours for individuals and groups.

The park

Dated back to the 16th century, the park offers a fantastic blend of English style gardens, ponds, foliage, century-old trees and monumental sculptures. A real gem of a place part of the Walloon park and gardens of exception.

In the 19th century, the estate was planted with exotic trees, now considered the Hainaut region's largest arboretum.
